Great Lakes Ship Sinks With 12 Reported Drowned

3-TO-1 MARGIN CLAIMED FOR LABOR CURBS

Backers Say Victory by Overwhelming Vote Certain as House Acts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Supporters of the compromise union-restricting bill laid advance claims to a three-to-one victory margin today as they called the measure up in the house for certain passage.

One more step—senate approval—takes the bill to an uncertain fate at the White House. The senate expects to vote tomorrow.

President Truman then must make a decision that could affect the direction the big organized labor vote swings in next year's election. The Democratic party has leaned heavily on union support in the past.

Getting Conflicting Advice

Word got around the capital that Mr. Truman is getting conflicting advice from key administration officials on whether to veto or sign the bill, or let it become law without signing. Congressional opinion is split as to the smartest course politically.

But some house opponents of the measure carried a campaign for a veto straight to the Chief Executive. Reps. Lesinski (Mich) and Madden (Ind) had an appointment with the Chief Executive today.

Senator Hatch (D-NM) talked with Mr. Truman yesterday. Hatch told reporters afterwards he thinks the threat of a new soft coal strike has increased the possibility that Mr. Truman would sign the bill.

It contains several provisions that would tighten the reins on strikes and unions in various ways.

No-Strike Order Possible

Examples:

The government could get court orders to stop strikes paralyzing national health and safety—like a coal or steel tie-up—for an 80-day period of mediation.

Some kinds of strikes and boycotts would be forbidden.

So would the closed shop, which compels an employer to hire only union members.

Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana arranged to bring the bill before the house by 2 p. m. or earlier. Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas protested.

Enlist Ohio Mayors In Battle Against Liquor for Minors

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—The first of more than 900 letters from the state liquor department to Ohio mayors were in the mails today and they asked local aid in a department campaign to wipe out sale of intoxicants to minors.

As the summer school vacation period neared for most Buckeye youngsters, Lt. Floyd Moon, acting enforcement chief of the liquor department, instructed agents-in-charge of the state's nine enforcement districts to watch taverns and night clubs closely for infraction of the state law banning sale of 3.2 beer to anyone under 18 and of beverages with greater alcoholic content to persons under 21.

The state board of liquor control has heard eight cases involving sales to minors in the last month, revoked licenses of three of the permit holders accused and suspended licenses of the other five from 30 days to six months.

326 Harding Seniors To Be Graduated with 75th Class, Largest in History of School

Three hundred and twenty-six Harding High school seniors, clad in blue gowns and caps, will receive their diplomas in commencement exercises tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Chautauqua pavilion. The class for 1947 is the largest to be graduated from the school in annual ceremonies, the first of which was held seventy-five years ago, when the school was known as Marion High school.

The first graduating class in 1872 consisted of two seniors. The late Miss Elizabeth Ruehrmund who lived at 189 West Church street until her death in 1945 and Charles Fisher who is now living with a daughter, Miss Hope Fisher, principal of St. Catherine's School at Richmond, Va. Mr. Fisher, a Marion attorney many years, now is retired. He is dean of the Marion county bar.

This year's class also boasts of a larger number of veterans who have returned from service to qualify for diplomas. There are 65 ex-servicemen in the present class, an increase of approximately 20 over last year's record. Only in one other year, 1938, was a class almost as large as the one in '47. In that year 325 seniors were graduated.

Division of Courses

The number of students registered in each of the courses are as follows: college preparatory, 37; commercial, 57; vocational, 26; general, 206.

The seniors have chosen their class colors navy and white and these colors will be prominent since the graduates have chosen blue caps and gowns and all of the girls' gowns will be trimmed with a white collar. Their choice of a class flower is a red rose and the class motto is "Be the Best of Whatever You Are".

Speaker for the commencement will be Dr. George Lackland, pastor of Indianola Methodist church of Columbus. His subject will be "Start Living Now".

The program will start at 8 p. m. with the processional "Grand March from Aida", by Verdi, followed by the national anthem. Rev. H. M. McAdow former pastor of Wesley Methodist church, will speak the invocation. A musical program will follow, the first portion by the Harding High School orchestra under the direction of Homer Huffman. It will include the "Weber Suite", arrangement by Clark and selections from "The Student Prince", Romberg. Songs by the Harding a cappella choir directed by L. G. Jones will include "One World", O'Hara-Bratton, "Hear My Prayer", James-Stickles and "The Echo", Lasso.

E. E. Holt, superintendent of schools, will introduce Dr. Lackland. Following the address, Albert C. May, Harding principal, will introduce the graduating class while F. C. Robinson, vice president of the board of education, will present the diplomas. The class song, words of which were written by Miss Patricia Anne Wormell, will be sung immediately preceding the benediction by Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor of Central Christian church. The recessional "March of the Priests", Mendelssohn, will conclude the program.

In previous years the date of the commencement has always fallen on a Friday. This year, however, the required 180 days of school ends tomorrow thus mak-

ACTION ON TAX BILL DELAYED

Truman Not To Sign or Veto Measure Before Leaving For Reunion.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—President Truman will not act on the $4,000,000,000 income tax cut bill before he leaves for Kansas City Friday morning, Secretary Charles G. Ross said today.

Ross told reporters he did not know whether Mr. Truman would act before he leaves for Canada next Monday after his return from the midwest. In Kansas City, he will address the meeting of the 35th Division with which he served in the first World War.

The tax bill, he added, has not yet reached the President's desk although congress completed work on it yesterday. Mr. Truman and congressional leaders of both parties conferred at the White House today but Ross said the tax legislation was not discussed.

Mr. Truman has 10 days, not counting Sundays, to veto or sign the bill.

News Conference Tomorrow

Ross said the President will hold a news conference tomorrow and a regular cabinet meeting tomorrow afternoon.

He said the cabinet session is not an emergency meeting but is merely advanced from Friday to accomodate the President.

Aside from the limited period for presidential action on the legislation, there is also another time element involved.

The bill on which the senate completed congressional action yesterday is designed to take effect July 1. That means hundreds of thousands of revised withholding tax instructions and forms must go to employers in the next three weeks if the bill becomes law. Most withholdings would be cut 20 or 30 per cent the first of next month.

Quick Action Expected

Senator Millikin (R-Colo.), who piloted the bill through the senate, said he looks for the President to act this week.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder indicated a decision might be reached at a special cabinet meeting Thursday.

One Democratic official on Capitol Hill told reporters last night that unless Mr. Truman has a last-minute change of mind he will veto the bill. But speculation continued rife.

The senate approved the measure in its final form yesterday

The measure barely got out of committee last night by a vote of 6 to 4.

TRUMAN REQUESTS ACTION

ORE STEAMER HITS ROCK OFF MICHIGAN'S TIP

Ashtabula-Bound Vessel Lists 3 Women Among Missing; 21 Rescued.

By The Associated Press

WINDSOR, Ont., June 4—Twelve persons lost their lives early today when the ore-laden freighter, Emperor, plowed into a rock in a treacherous Lake Superior passage and sank.

Operators of the vessel, Canada Steamship Lines, said the body of one woman cook was recovered and listed names of 11 other crew members, including two women, "known to be aboard and whose bodies have not been recovered."

Twenty-one survivors were rescued by the United States Coast Guard and taken to Ft. William, Ont., on the northern Lake Superior coast.

The company said the normal crew of the Emperor was 35 but that two crew members remained behind when the vessel left Port Arthur, Ont., last night for Ashtabula, O.

The 7,000 ton freighter went down at 4:10 a. m., about an hour after she sent out a distress signal.

Captain Among Victims

Capt. Eldon Walkinshaw, 61-year-old veteran of 38 years, was among the victims of the worst Great Lakes shipping disaster in five years.

There were no passengers aboard the ship, the steamship line said.

The scene of the sinking was off Passage Island light, where a wide but rock-studded channel connects upper Lake Superior with Thunder bay.

The area is near Isle Royale, a beautiful but remote national park 48 miles out in Lake Superior from Michigan's northern-most tip.

The ship carried three women's cooks and the Coast Guard said the body of one of them was recovered.

A Coast Guard picket boat from Eagle Harbor, Mich., and a plane from Traverse City, Mich., set out in search of the missing crew members.

The Coast Guard cutter Kimball, which brought survivors ashore, was also scheduled to return to the scene.

Comdr. E. J. Roland, chief of staff of the Cleveland Coast Guard district, said the vessel struck a rock and went down quickly. The Coast Guard on Upper Lake Superior reported that fog blanketed the area during the night.

At the time of the sinking, the temperature in the area stood in the mid-thirty degrees, the coldest June 4 reading in Michigan's history.

Glen Jackson, superintendent in Windsor for the steamship line, described the passage where the sinking occurred as wide but "dangerous if you get outside the channel."

The Emperor, a steel freighter 525 feet long, was built in Collingswood in 1910 and is among about 75 vessels operated by Canada Steamship.

She cleared Port Arthur, Ont., at 11 p. m. Tuesday southbound for Ashtabula with a load of iron ore. She was to have reached Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., tonight.

Survivors said the Emperor struck Canoe rocks, a mile and a half north of Isle Royale.

Two lifeboats were launched. The plug came out of one and the 10 occupants were in knee deep water when the Coast Guard cutter Kimball arrived on the scene less than an hour after the accident.

The second lifeboat was sucked under the water when Emperor plunged to the bottom.

The Emperor rested on the bottom in approximately 50 feet of water. Her foremast could be seen above the surface.

Seven other survivors were picked up from the rocks.

The woman who was found dead was Mrs. Edna Schultz of Owen Sound, Ont., a cook.

Among those reported missing were Jane Buzzie and Marie Luzula both of Fort William.

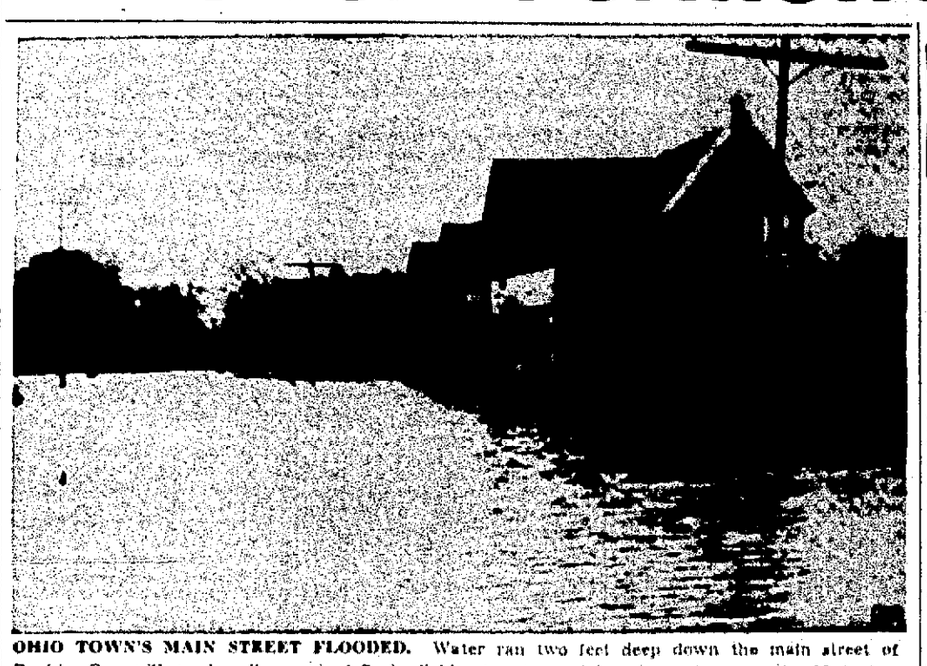
Flash Flood Sweeps Over Vermont City



OHIO TOWN'S MAIN STREET FLOODED. Water ran two feet deep down the main street of Durbin, O. a village six miles west of Springfield, after torrential spring rains sent the Mad river out of its banks. The water lapped at the foundations of the homes and buildings of the town, forcing some of the families to higher ground. (Associated Press Wirephoto).

WATER, POWER KNOCKED OUT

500 Homeless at Rutland, Vt.; 13-Year-Old Child Missing.

By The Associated Press

The picturesque city of Rutland, Vermont was without power and water today after a flash flood resulting from a torrential rainfall caused an estimated $2,000,000 damage and left upwards of 500 persons temporarily homeless.

One person—13-year-old Richard La Victoire—was reported still missing and fears for his safety grew. Three others lost in the confusion as lowland dwellers fled their homes were finally found by their families.

Gov. Ernest W. Gibson ordered emergency supplies of food, water and clothing rushed to Rutland—second largest city in Vermont—and ordered out the National Guard.

Flood waters that swept down from mountain slopes were receding rapidly, until at noon they were within the banks of East creek again.

Key highways leading into the city were made passable by repair crews but rail traffic was stymied by the collapse of a Rutland railroad main line bridge washed out by the flood-swollen creek.

Lack of water was creating the most serious difficulties, the governor said. The shortage arose from destruction of city water mains.

Farm Houses Swept Away

Ten farm houses in Chittendan just north of Rutland were swept away when a power dam in East Pittsford burst. About a dozen houses in Autland, itself, were destroyed as the ensuing flood raced five miles to the city.

Approximately 200 other houses were badly damaged.

Without water, officials were unable to even begin cleaning up the debris to make them livable again.

The Rutland Herald was unable to publish its morning edition as power failed.

3 Bridges Washed Out

At least three large bridges, one of them a railroad span, and six small ones were washed away.

Among them was the "76" bridge just north of Rutland—covered wooden structure long regarded as one of New England's historical landmarks.

All communication was virtually cut off.

The telephone company has installed a special line—reserved for emergency calls.

The center of the city, located on a hill, escaped damage.

Still holding was the big Chittenden power dam five miles north of east Pittsford—one of the largest dams in the state, serving as a

Flood Danger in Ohio Passing As Sun Chases Rain Clouds

Relief from flood waters was in sight for Marion county communities located along the Scioto river as sunny weather followed torrential rains of the early part of the week. Scattered showers with somewhat warmer temperatures were forecast for Ohio Thursday, but nothing like the steady downpour which drenched the state Sunday and Monday was expected.

Waters were receding in other parts of the state with the exception of the area bordering the Ohio river, according to The Associated Press. The river was reported rising steadily at East Liverpool.

The first death attributable to the flood conditions was reported at Urbana.

David William Brooks, 10-year-old boy, slipped and disappeared into Mad river while helping a younger brother, Albert, 8, wash their pet dog.

Prospect still was endangered by muddy waters reported rising one inch an hour this morning. Water has surrounded several houses in the southern section of the town and is nearly to the first floor level in some homes. The testing building of the Hanley Engineering Co. located near the river was inundated, but all equipment was removed before water entered into the building. Only minor damage has been done to the building, according to employes.

Pass Crest at LaRue

In Marion county the crest of the Scioto flood waters passed LaRue Monday. The water level today stood at 11 feet, two feet lower than the 13-foot crest.

Water was still rising this morning at Green Camp, though no damage has been reported there except to surrounding farm lands which were inundated. LaRue residents working in Marion reported that some roads closed the first part of the week can now be traveled although water still covers them. It was expected the roads would soon be free of water provided no more heavy rains fell immediately.

River Drops at Delaware

At Delaware where residents of low lying areas had been alerted for evacuation earlier in the week, the Olentangy river dropped to the seven-foot level from a high of 11 feet.

Subsiding waters in farmlands left deposits of mud and silt everywhere.

Little hope was held for the oat crops and a complete reversal in weather was about all that could save the corn planting.

Many persons returned to their homes, but 40 families, refugees

Treaty Ratification Deemed a Certainty

The Texas senator, chief Democratic sponsor of the treaties, held out no chance at all for a pending motion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) to defer action on the Italian document until Jan. 25, 1948.

SOUTHERN COAL PARLEY ENDS

Negotiations with Lewis' Miners Collapse After Offer Made Public.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Contract negotiations between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and southern coal operators broke down today.

Ten minutes before the talks were scheduled to resume, the UMW representatives notified operators they would not attend because the mine owners yesterday had made public their wage proposals. These included an offer of an 85 cents daily pay increase in return for abandonment of portal-to-portal pay time for underground travel in the mines.

Similar negotiations between Lewis and operators from the north and west were suspended last week after the two sides disagreed on the issue of wages.

The operators proposed to increase the miner's daily earnings from $11.85 for a nine-hour day underground to $12.70—but they wanted to wipe out the one-hour portal-to-portal or travel time allowance, paying only for eight hours spent digging coal.

Lewis had demanded $13.05 for an eight-hour day underground, including an hour and a half allowed for travel and lunch.

The wage proposal and others made public by the operators would force Lewis to retreat from gains his 400,000 soft coal miners have enjoyed for a full year under their government contract.

The southern mine owners also wanted to abandon the miners' welfare fund built by a nickel-a-ton royalty on all coal produced and which already has grown to nearly $20,000,000. Lewis asked northern and western operators to make this collection a dime a ton. The north-west contract talks collapsed last Saturday.

ANDERSON CALLED IN TO GIVE SUGAR VIEWS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was invited to tell the senate banking committee today why he opposes a bill which would end sugar rationing at once.

Aides said Anderson's stand is that the present sugar control act, which authorizes continuance of rationing until Oct. 31, should not be disturbed because of uncertainty as to future supplies.

The agriculture department is receiving reports that eastern seaboard warehouses which were filled to overflowing a few weeks ago are now running low.

Acting upon department encouragement, consumers have been redeeming their ration stamps in large volume during the past two weeks.

Early last month, the department moved up the validity date of a 10-pound stamp from July 1 to May 28. This was designed to speed movement of sugar from crowded warehouses to consumer pantries before railroads found it necessary to divert a large number of freight cars for movement of the new wheat crop to market.

The government already has assured consumers a minimum of 25 pounds for the first 10 months of this year compared with 25 pounds they were entitled to last year, including canning allowances.

STATE FAIR PRICE CUT

Circus Elephant Repeats Escape Act Made in Marion Last Year

Burma, the only elephant with the Mills Bros. circus, who went on a rampage through backyards in the northern section of Marion about a year ago, yesterday again felt the urge for life in the open.

While the circus, which winters at Bucyrus, was showing at Lansing, Mich., the usually docile elephant slipped away from her handlers and wandered through backyards, finally submitting to capture after she became entangled in a clothesline filled with a housewife's weekly wash, The Associated Press reported.

Here April 23, 1946

It was on April 23, last year, that the 36-year-old Burma broke loose at the Drake show lot here, making a half-mile trip to North Oak street knocking down fences and a coal shed on the way.

"Burma is a real trouper," said Trainer Ray Goode proudly after the circus' one and only elephant performed as usual last night in Lansing.

"She was so nervous yesterday we had to feed her bread and sugar for half an hour to bring her under control. All those women yelling and screaming. It upset her so we thought she couldn't go on."

Unlike Burma, some of the good housewives of suburban South Lansing still were a little jittery today.

The elephant broke her chains and went on a tour of the neighborhood, smashing across lawns, knocking down fences, trampling gardens and peering through windows of the neat little homes in the section.

When finally caught Burma was entangled in a welter of backyard washing.

Burma still was able to lead the grand entrance of the circus parade last night, however. She danced for the children, lifted the lady acrobat in tights on her trunk with gentle care, stood on her head and gave a faultless performance through to the grand finale with the waving of the American flag.

"A real trouper," repeated her trainer fondly.

JERSEY CITY MAYOR, FRANK HAGUE, QUITS

By The Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 4—Mayor Frank Hague, whose fabulous career as a political leader carried into the modern scene the excitement and fire of another era, announced with sudden abruptness today his retirement from office.

The 71-year-old Democratic leader who fought his way out of the poorest district of Jersey City to become one of America's most durable and powerful of Democratic figures told newsmen hastily summoned to his city hall chambers that he would step out as mayor on June 16—the 20th anniversary of his election to the post.

He will be succeeded by his nephew City Commissioner Frank Hague Eggers.

The state Democratic leader said he would continue as vice chairman of the Democratic national committee.

The announcement came as a complete surprise. There had been continued rumors that the Demo-

Kettering, Retiring from GM, To Continue Science Research

By The Associated Press

FRENCH LICK, Ind., June 4—Charles Kettering, whose retirement as vice-president of General Motors Corporation, in charge of research, was announced in New York Monday expects to "carry on pretty much as I have in the past."

The famed engineer-scientist, who has contributed many major advances to the automotive industry, so declared as he arrived here to address a meeting of the society of automotive engineers tonight on progress in the development of a new high compression automobile engine.

The new engine, Kettering declared, eventually will cut the American motorists fuel bill by approximately one billion dollars a year.

To a question as to whether he planned to retire completely, Kettering, who will be 71 years old next Aug. 29, replied: "I wouldn't want to fool around with that sort of thing. There are several things I want to work on yet including this engine (the new high compression unit), fuels and some other projects still in the laboratories. I would have retired several years ago, but the war came along and there was much work to be done, so I stayed on," he said.

He expects to retain an office in the General Motors research building in Detroit, but escape "a lot of executive work" that goes with the office of general manager. This post will be taken over by Charles L. McCuen, heretofore in charge of the GM engineering staff.

His new duties also will give him more time, he said, to devote to the Sloan-Kettering Cancer foundation, which he established with Alfred P. Sloan Jr., board chairman of General Motors.

He said he had no plans for moving his home from Detroit.

ARGENTINA EXPECTED TO GET U. S. ARMS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Diplomats look today for Argentina to be successful in its long bid to get United States arms, now that the two countries have quit glaring at one another.

They say that sale of American military equipment to the Buenos Aires government is one of three major developments likely to follow yesterday's White House conference re-establishing formal good relations

The turn came when President Truman indicated to Argentine Ambassador Oscar Ivanissevich this country's willingness to sit down with Argentina and the other American republics to draft a mutual defense treaty

Besides the arms sales, diplomatic authorities also predict

1. Holding of the inter-American defense conference at Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, in July or August if arrangements can be made in time.

2. A reestimate of the political situation in South America as a result of the changed relationship between Buenos Aires and Washington.

Some of the small nations around Argentina which have been fearful of President Juan D Peron's dynamic policies may want to know now how far the United States will continue to support their resistance to any pressures from Peron to bring them into an Argentine orbit

SANDUSKY BOY WINS STAR FARMER AWARD

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, June 4 — Ohio's Future Farmers of America today were winding up their 19th annual convention here and proudest of all was tall, 17-year-old Paul R Dennis, of near Kansas, O, in Sandusky county.

The young high school senoir who figures he has grossed more than $3,000 on FFA projects during his four high school years was given the Ohio Star Farmer award, most sought after honor in the state organization.

Working as a partner with his father, John Dennis, Paul farms the 230 acres that more than keeps two tractors busy. But his pets are the 80 pure bred Hereford hogs he has raised himself on pasture and a concrete hog lot and the 150 turkeys he is getting ready for the holiday markets

Much of the partners' equipment is owned by the youngster, who estimates his total investment must be worth about $2-100 The Dennises have lived on their present farm 16 years and own 130-acres of the tract They rent 80 acres and use 20 to raise corn, soybeans and other feed crops for cash.

Despite young Dennis' rigid farm regime the youth finds time for sports and other activities He was a member of a Rising Sun High school basketball team that won 16 of its 18 games last winter and also presided over the school's FFA chapter.

High School Sheiks Told How To Snag Sheilas

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 4—What fun is it to be whistled at if the whistlers aren't worth a hoot?

That's what a number of Oklahoma High school girls wrote in to ask Miss Maxine Turner, state nutritionist, after she told them in a frank booklet that the best way to become a "whistle job" was to develop a "classy chassis."

Hal Boyle

The girls complained that the quality of "nice wolves" was so low it was hardly worth the trouble to develop eye appeal.

So Miss Turner, an attractive brunette who follows her own advice, has prepared a booklet for the Oklahoma state department of health telling high school boys "how to be a big time operator."

She talks in their own jive language.

Talk Over With Coach

"If you're only slightly repulsive, you can talk it over with the physical education teacher or the coach," she wrote. "They were probably young once, too.

"However, there are a few things every guy can do to stay on the beam. Such foods as milk shakes, pastries, cakes, rich sauces, cream, fat meats and candies are no-go if you sport a plump rump.

"If you're a Slim Jim—and you can tell from the number of times she slams that receiver down in your ear—you'll need to eat more of the fattening foods."

Under the heading "ain't you got no happy?", Miss Turner told the high school Romeos:

"If it's come to the point she'd rather talk than cuddle, you're in a bad way, chum—and no fiddling.

War's Over, Jackson

"However, you can't blame a gal these days for not wanting to nestle on a thin shin. Nor can you squawk if she doesn't wanna tackle a mound of fat. After all, Jackson, the war's over, Kilroy's back in town.

"Oh, sure, diets are for dames, you say. But guys are for dames too—so you can draw your own conclusions."

Miss Turner listed as the seven basic food needs:

Green and yellow vegetables—one serving a day.

Citrus fruits—one serving a day.

Potatoes and other fruits and vegetables—two or three servings a day.

Milk and milk products—one quart daily.

Meat, fish, eggs and poultry—two servings daily.

Whole grain or enriched bread and cereals—three servings daily.

Butter or fortified margarine—three tablespoons daily.

Skin "Hickies" Aired

The bootlet also advised boys how to clear up skin "hickies" by getting plenty of sleep, cutting down on sweets and using a mild face soap.

"Big broad shoulders and an athlete's hips are certainly an asset," Miss Turner said, "but it takes a few additional doo-dads to snag the dates.

"A good clear skin, a nice crop of hair and eyes with a knowing gaze will open more front doors than the frame that carries them around."

In a final chapter on "Why are you so Glum, Chum?", Miss Turner observed that if "the lush thrush can live without you and the gals give you the icy stare that should be reserved for Luke the Spook"—well, it's probably because "you exude a terrific odor in the disposition.

"Nobody's gonna give a second glance to a sour puss. The kind of food you eat directly affects your disposition. To be cooperative, efficient, sincere and loyal, you must eat properly.

"Desserts, sundaes and soft drinks can come later. Inevitably, the women will follow. After all, that's all you're after."

POWER DISCUSSION CONTINUES AT GALION

Engineer's Unfavorable Report Renews Study.

Special to The Star

GALION, June 4 — Galion's much discussed electric power need and the operation of the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant again was considered by city council members, Mayor William Amann and light plant supervisors at council's meeting Tuesday night.

The discussion grew out of a report given the Galion Kiwanis club Tuesday noon by W. C. Kamerer of Cleveland, consulting engineer. Kammerer told the Kiwanis club and the several leaders who were guests of the club, that the Galion light plant was the most poorly operated light plant in the state, and that 90 per cent of the power failures could have been avoided. He attributed the difficulty to poor operation and lack of competent supervision. Kammerer told the Kiwanis club that it would be possible to put the plant in effcient operation in three to six months. Asked what his opinon was relative to purchase of Diesel engines, (one has been ordered by the city), Kammerer said that it was not economical to use diesel and steam together.

Mayor Amann, speaking in defense of the administration, said that he thought the right step had been taken in securing the services of a competent engineer to make a study of the needs of the Galion light plant and recommend methods to be used in its expansion.

Councilman Richard Ganshorn spoke staunchly in support of council's action to purchase a diesel unit for the light plant.

City firemen and policemen (17 employes), were given a boost of $10 per month on salaries when council passed legislation to provide this.

Under the new ordinance, the chiefs of the two departments will each receive $215 a month. Regular firemen and policemen will receive $195 a month, while the 90-day probationery period men will get $160 per month.

"Slugger" Sinatra Settles Brawling Case Out of Court

By The Associated Press

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 4—Columnist Lee Mortimer has dropped his assault charge against Frank Sinatra—announcing that the crooner had agreed to pay him $8,000—but the boys didn't make up.

They didn't speak or smile to one another during a session yesterday in justice court. Each just looked glum when he looked in the other's direction. Frankie, wearing a flying jacket, T-shirt and gray slacks, sat on the jury box rail with his hands in his pants pockets.

Mortimer, quoted by Sheriff Sergeant R. B. Fox as saying that Sinatra knocked him down and beat him while three other men held him outside Ciro's night club last April 8, rose from his chair at the counsel table between two lawyers.

"I acknowledge that I have received satisfaction for the injury done to me," he read to Judge Cecil D. Holland from a typewritten yellow sheet, much edited in pencil. "Furthermore, Sinatra has publicly acknowledged that I did not call him the vile names he stated I called him."

Mortimer asked the court to dismiss the case. Judge Holland did so, directing Sinatra to pay court costs of about $50 and ordering the crooner's $500 bail refunded.

CHARLES F. MONROE STRICKEN IN GALION

Was Well-Known Business Man; Rites Thursday.

Special to The Star

GALION, June 4—Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m., Thursday at the Snyder Funeral Home for Charles F. Monroe, 80, one of Galion's best known citizens who died at his home at 11 a. m., Tuesday. He came to Galion in 1891 from Broadway, O., and was associated with the Sun-Review, a weekly newspaper, for three years. Then he returned to Broadway where he remained until 1904 when he again came to Galion to become associated with the newspaper. In Union county he was superintendent of the Taylor township High school for 15 years. For seven years he lived at Milford Center where he was mayor and publisher. He became editor of the Galion Daily Leader and Sun-Review in 1904. After selling his newspaper interests, he organized the Commercial Printing company and became sole proprietor of this business in 1910. In later years his son, Charles F. Monroe Jr., has been associated with him in the printing business. From 1908 to 1909 he served as chairman of the Republican County Central committee, Crawford county, and became a member of the Republican State Central committee in 1910. He has been a justice of the peace in Polk township since 1924. Since 1890 he had been a member of the Masonic lodge. He was the oldest member of Galion Lodge of Elks. He also took an active part in the First Methodist church although his membership continued at Milford Center church.

He was born Oct. 18, 1857, in Franklin county. His marriage on Dec. 21, 1884, was to Mary Josephine Burson who survives. Other survivors are three children: Mrs. Florence Flickinger, of Windsor, Canada; Mrs. Rowena Williams of Toledo, and Charles F. Monroe, Jr.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Retsmel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

America's Bad Behavior

IN THE current issue of Saturday Evening Post, Senora Emma de Encinas of Mexico tells her good neighbors of the United States something their best friends have been afraid to say too long—that many Americans have atrocious manners when visiting in Mexico. She says America's bad behavior is bad enough to make the good-neighbor policy seem silly to many of her countrymen and proposes a training program to keep "gringos" from undermining what could be, otherwise, a real friendship.

The senora is talking about Americans visiting Mexico. But their bad behavior and bad manners do not start when they cross the border. American bad manners are indigenous. The United States has been robbed of a large part of the respect it has earned as a nation by the antics of individual Americans away from home. The notion that "to know us is to love us" has died hard. Until someone comes up with a reply to Senora Emma de Encinas "familiarity breeds contempt" will take its place.

Travel's So Broadening

SEVEN THOUSAND American students will have an opportunity to study abroad this summer under a government-sponsored plan worked out with the maritime commission. Two ships will make eight round trips between June and October, carrying students to England, France, Norway and The Netherlands where the leading universities are arranging sessions for them.

Before the war there was nothing like foreign study to add polish to a scholar's record. "He studied at Oxford," or "The Sorbonne gave him a degree" was roughly the equivalent of "summa cum laude" from an American university. The fact that some of these foreign courses might be nothing more than a short series of lectures didn't detract from the glamor of foreign study.

Students who go abroad this summer should find travel even more broadening than did their postwar predecessors. They will have an opportunity to see lands where discontent and unrest are rife, where hunger is a very real specter, where the shock of war has just begun to wear off and where only a fortunate few live as well as the average American. Our traveling students may learn much in Europe's universities, but the observant ones among them will bring back far more memorable lessons learned outside the lecture halls.

Lifting a Cloud

DECISION of the army to discontinue its blue certificate of discharge will eliminate an enigmatic document which undeservedly has cast a cloud over the lives of some former servicemen.

The holder of a discharge printed on blue paper may have been undesirable for military service or he may have been only unsuitable. There is an important difference but the blue discharge gave no clue to it.

Four types of discharges will be used after July 1—honorable, general, undesirable and dishonorable. Inept or unsuitable individuals whose records otherwise are satisfactory will receive general discharges, which will be virtually the same as honorable discharges. Undesirable discharges will be virtually the same as the dishonorable ones.

This is a fair revision of the discharge system, although apparently it makes no provision for holders of previously-issued blue certificates, many of whom would be entitled to the new general discharge.

Global Fund Raising

FUND RAISING activities have become a rather commonplace feature of our national life, but this autumn the United Nations will stage a fund drive that will dwarf any ever held. Every wage-earner in the world will be asked to contribute a day's pay for the relief of 60,000,000 needy children and mothers of the world.

In its normal work the UN deals with and among governments, but this appeal is to go over the heads of governments and draw the peoples of the world into a many-million-strong fraternity, all giving in the same way at the same time. The money will be used to provide food, clothing and medicine for fatherless families.

The project is a praiseworthy one, especially if it transcends national barriers—even iron curtains—to raise an impressive sum. The United States can be relied upon to do its part, as usual.

Did You Know?

Epidemic danger from malaria in the United States is remote. A combination of Anopheles mosquitoes and active infections would be required and only during an untreated relapse could a patient transmit the disease (an ordinary mosquito cannot spread malaria).

Labor Bill Veto?

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

No Grounds for Assuming Truman Will Sign.

WASHINGTON, June 4—There is no foundation for the widespread assumption that President Truman is certain to sign the labor bill. By the efforts of Senator Irving Ives and others, the bill has been stripped of the more obvious whips and scorpions. Therefore, the President may swallow hard and withhold his veto. But he will do so only as anxious an inner debate as the White House has heard in this administration, and with heartfelt misgivings on several different scores.

The odds on what the President will do have been changed, moreover, by the increasing threat of a third party headed by Henry Agard Wallace. If there were no third party threat, the President would probably sign the labor bill despite his distaste for many of its clauses. That would be the practical thing to do, since the bill can be passed over his veto in any case. And it remains the consensus of advice from his cabinet, in which a majority still favors signing the bill and having done.

The betting has now been brought down at least to even, however. For the pro-veto faction of Presidential advisers, headed by Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach, has acquired a powerful argument. The President's signature on the labor bill will be tantamount, by their reasoning, to his signature on a third party manifesto primarily directed against himself. A third party would elect no one, and probably poll only a million or so votes. But it would certainly cost the Democrats key states like New York and California which they must carry to win.

Third Party Threat Gains

As reported in this space some days ago, the danger of a third party movement has been vastly strengthened by the wild Wallace barnstorming tour across the country. The tour has obviously sapped Wallace's remaining caution. It has placed him in a relationship to the American Communists and fellow travelers hardly different from the relation of the captive Italian socialist, the pitiful Nenni, to his political jailer, Palmiro Togliatti. The tour has also produced financing and an embyro third party organization in the form of an augmented Progressive Citizens of America. These are solid assets to be used, whenever it seems suitable, by the American Communists who have been plugging a third party for many months.

There is only one real obstacle to the Communists starting their fellow travelers to sparke Wallace into action without further delay. Their foothold in the labor movement is the most valued Communist asset. If they push Wallace into a third party movement on the issue of foreign policy alone, they will inevitably lose ground in the labor movement as they did so markedly in the period of the Stalin-Hitler pact. No sensible labor leader of the stripe of Philip Murray in the CIO, and Dan Tobin in the AFL wants a third party, and especially a third party headed by Wallace and internally dominated by reliable fellow travelers. In fact, they want to fight such a party if they can. And if the third party proponents have no issue but foreign policy, these labor leaders will fight. The upshot might be final loss to the Communists of the labor foothold which they cherish above all.

Points Clarified

This explains, in turn, the desperate pleas which have been indirectly transmitted to the White House from many of the labor leaders. While the labor bill is full of minor gimmicks intended to hamper labor unionism, it is certainly not the "slave labor bill" which the labor leaders call it. But it is as much a symbol for labor as for business. And if Truman signs the labor bill, stamping it with his public approval, the labor leadership cannot fight on Truman's side.

They will be effectively neutralized in 1946, and the Communists can go ahead with their third party plans, without worrying about the effects on their labor strength. The exact contrary will be the case, however, if Truman follows a ringing veto of the tax bill, as "class legislation" favorable to the very rich, with a firm veto of the labor bill. The labor leaders will fight manfully for Truman. And Wallace and his allies will then have nothing to mouth about, except the peculiar Wallace foreign policy.

There is no doubt that the majority of the country would oppose a labor bill veto. If he listens to his pro-veto advisers, who include the bosses of the northern Democratic organizations, the President must accept a temporary setback to avoid future trouble. And the trouble may come anyway. But there is this also to be said. All major labor disputes are satisfactorialy settled, except in coal. The administration is cautiously optimistic about a coal settlement, partly because John L. Lews would be taking a great risk to lead his men into a third costly strike in 12 months and partly because the southern operators have privately signified their willingness to accept any contract signed by the northern operators. If there is no coal strike, the labor issue will progressively lose intensity as labor peace continues. By 1948 a Truman veto of the labor bill will then only be remembered by organized labor with gratitude and with fury by the people who would vote Republican in any case.

Because of the illness of Paul Mallon, his Washington column which regularly appears in this space, is omitted today.

Just a Minute

By JACK TARVER

Who'll Know if He Is Wrong?

A Connecticut meteorologist claims to be able to forecast weather conditions two million years in advance.

His services will doubtless be much in demand among persons planning picnics for the summer of 2,001,947.

There's nothing like knowing well in advance in case you've got to hunt up an umbrella.

Still, the ability to forecast the weather two million years ahead is probably the most useless achievement since the younger generation mastered the art of blowing bubble gum.

Of course, there is always hope, if science has really perfected the art of such long-range predictions, that before long it may be able accurately to tell whether it's going to rain tomorrow.

There's one thing about such forecasts, the longer the range the lesser the likelihood of anybody being around to say "I told you so" if you're wrong.

Unrepentant Germans

THE sense of responsibility felt by Americans representing their country in the military occupation of Germany is expressed in these excerpts from a letter written by the wife of a United States Army colonel to the Christian Science Monitor and published recently in that newspaper. The writer's identity was not made known, in accord with rules restricting expressions of opinion by officers' wives, but she is well-known in:

"Our life here in Germany is almost overwhelming. There is so much to be done and so few of us to do it. And whenever we stop to think that we Americans are representing you back home, the responsibility is terrifying.

"On the surface, the occupation seems to be going smoothly, but there are many strange undercurrents which can't be grasped at once. My own impression is that the Germans are not a beaten people and that they have no sense of guilt for their dreadful part in disrupting the world. They are sorry, yes—but sorry only that they lost the war. And they still consider themselves a super-race.

"I am interested in the German Youth Movement here, as I feel perhaps we can really re-educate the younger people in ways of democracy. We have parties and sports for them, and teach them handicraft—and feed them. Sometimes I have a shaky feeling that these young people are interested only in the food and clothing, and glibly absorb any doctrine we offer them. We've also recently given Germany a free press — something they've never had, and we are watching with interest the use they make of it.

"Our own servants seem devoted to us, on the surface. They agree with us that Hitler was a bad man and that Germany must never again harm other nations. But they talk only of the bombing of Germany. When we tell them that Germany began by ruthlessly bombing others, they simply shrug. They are not interested in what happened to those people they consider inferior to themselves. It will take a long while, I'm afraid, to instill in them a sense of world consciousness and responsibility. But we all hope it can eventually be done."

Action About Parking

By The Associated Press

TRAFFIC strangulation is causing more major cities to act favorably on off-street parking plans, reports International City Managers' Association. Major municipal parking action so far this year is Philadelphia's approval of a $2,000,000 expenditure for underground parking garages. Other cities considering similar action include Indianapolis, Cleveland, and San Francisco. In Madison, Wis., a board of parking commissioners has been created by an ordinance which authorizes a $400,000 revenue bond issue to acquire and develop parking lots.

Construction of four ramp-type parking terminals has been recommended in Indianapolis by the city plan commission. In San Francisco, traffic planners have recommended construction of parking lots strategically located around the rim of the business district, with shuttle-bus service for shoppers. Plans are being drafted in Minneapolis for 20 double-deck parking lots which would cost the city some $12,000,000. Cleveland recently began action to acquire privately-owned land near the business district for use as free municipal parking areas. In New York, the board of trade has asked the city board of estimates to appropriate $75,000 to study practicability of city-operated underground parking garages. Boston and several other cities are considering purchase of sites for off-street parking developments.

Here We Go Again

They're Reviving Talk About United States of Europe.

By DARREL L. MANSELL

WHEN the statesmen begin to talk about the United States of Europe, it's time to duck.

European federation — which politicians have been talking about for 300 years, with no results—is a symptom, like a headache. It means governments are seeking new balances of power in advance of trouble.

The symptom is part of a cycle that starts with firm resolution to organize a United States of the World, is trimmed back to speculation about a United States of Europe, later is boiled down to a series of defensive pacts with friendly powers, and finally ends up as nonaggression pacts with unfriendly powers threatening to launch a war. When these fail, war occurs—and in its wake the nations talk again about a United States of the World, a United States of Europe etc.

Winston Churchill was talking about European federation before World War II and is leading the revival of the discussion now. Mr. Churchill is familiar with the topic; he narrowed down the proposal for general European federation to a desperate suggestion for a bilateral alliance of Britain and France in 1940.

It's Not New

His interest is a repetition of the interest shown in European federation after World War I, when Briand of France played a leading part in campaigning for the proposal. Then, as now, it was pointed out that the proposed federation would not conflict with the larger organization of the nations — the League of Nations then, the United Nations now.

The matter was pursued vigorously throughout the period between wars and was still being talked about when World War II began. There were two obvious reasons for this interest: Europe was scared stiff of Communism (and so was the United States), and the League of Nations had turned into a debating society offering no promise of genuine security because it lacked police power. It also lacked the United States, a deficiency as grave then as lack of Russian cooperation within the United Nations today.

Russia in the Way

The more these things seem to change the more they are the same. Today the dream of an international organization is being destroyed by the obstructionism of a major power. Russia. The United Nations is turning into a debating society, with no police power. Europe—and the United States — once more fear Communism. A United States of Europe is being proposed therefore, as a safeguard.

Soviet Russia feels there is only one motive for talking about European federation—to develop a western bloc of nations to block Russian expansion. Russia always is excluded, a fact that can be explained only partly by the fact it is an Asiatic as well as a European power.

No bona fide federation of European states would have any chance to succeed, except as a military measure, unless it had complete Russian support. Therefore, as far as the Kremlin is concerned now—and as far as it was concerned in the 1920's—a United States of Europe is a thin disguise for power politics, a scheme to beat Russia at its own game.

Churchill's Denial

Mr. Churchill denies all this, as might be expected. Speaking before an audience of 6,000 in Royal Albert Hall, London, last May 14, he said:

"If the peoples of Europe resolve to come together and work together for mutual advantage, to exchange blessings instead of curses, they still have it in their power to sweep away the horrors and miseries which surround them and to allow the streams of abundance to begin again their healing flow. It is, of course, alleged that all advocacy of the ideal of United Europe is nothing but a maneuver in the game of power politics and that it is a sinister plot against Soviet Russia. There is no truth in this."

Immediate reason for revival of interest in European federation is inability of the Allies to agree on a peace settlement for Germany. "The central and almost the most serious problem which glares upon the Europe of today is the future of Germany," said Mr. Churchill in his May 14 speech. "Except within the framework and against the background of a United Europe, this problem is incapable of solution."

Events in the United States—speeches by Secretary Marshall and Undersecretary Acheson of the State department, introduction of resolutions in Congress favoring European federation, various actions by private organizations, indicate that the idea is taking hold in this country.

The Lyster Bag

The death recently in Washington of Col. William J. L. Lyster took from the current scene a man whose name will live on in a simple but handy device — the Lyster bag, familiar to most army men. Hung from a tripod, it dispensed purified water to thirsty men and minimized the dangers of their hunting out water from untested sources.

Col. Lyster developed the bag during the Mexican border campaign of 1916-17 when irrigation ditches and brackish pools along the Rio Grande frequently were the only sources of drinking water. Hundreds came down with dysentery or typhoid until Col. Lyster, a medical officer, devised the bag which could be carried on muleback and hurriedly set up at the water point at the end of a day's march.

The Lyster bag really came into its own during the Louisiana maneuvers of 1941 when it was a standard part of the scene at all bivouac areas.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Getting It Straight

VOICE—A man from Cos Cob writes in to ask how many copper nails there are in an orthodox red picket fence 300 feet long by 4 feet high?

Answer—Curiously enough there are no copper nails in a picket fence, but according to the National Institute of Picayune Details, a white fence of this length and height has about 400 ordinary wire nails and no safety pins.

Voice—A lady with a barelip in Cheyenne wants to know what is the average life of a garden worm?

Answer—Nobody has actually stuck with a garden worm for its full span of life, but competent students of worm life say a worm's life is largely dependent on the chicken and other situation.

Voice—A bowlegged fireman in Wappingers Falls, asks who was the first American to abandon the rear collar-button?

Answer—It was not an American; it was, according to Wimple's Lexicon of Useless Information, a half breed Indian named Leaping Adam's Apple.

• • •

Voice—A young woman from Lemon City, Fla., wants to know whether the ant is really diligent or whether it only seems so by comparison with Government employees?

Answer—An ant in good health and with its mind on business can tow 3,000 grains of sand 11,000 yards in a ten-hour day. This is diligence of a high quality.

Voice—Is there such a thing as a boned shad and, if so, what is the trick?

Answer—Yes, there is such a thing as a boned shad. It is done by men who, had they applied the same degree of patience to any other line, would have gone far in life. One way to do it is to keep the shad on the hook and line, attach the tail to the rear of a taxi. Hold tightly to the line and tell the taxi to drive full speed ahead. Halibut are easier.

• • •

Voice—A woman named Smith from Bangor asks if...

Answer Man—Yes, Mount McKinley.

Voice—A seven-year-old child in Minneapolis wants to know if it is true that all southpaw pitchers sleep in their socks?

Answer—No. I knew one in the Three Eye League once who wore a glove on one foot.

• • •

Voice—A mother in Terra Haute asks if mucilage can be used to thicken vermicelli soup?

Answer—Yes, indeed. The Aztec Indians, who didn't care much for soup anyhow, frequently used it and even made cheese sandwiches with cement.

Voice—A Chinese laundryman in Hoboken writes to inquire if Andrew Jackson once rode a bicycle backwards over Niagara Falls?

Answer—No, that was Joe Jackson, except for the Niagara Falls part.

Voice—A man in Kew Gardens asks ...

Answer—Yes, he is quite right. In most umbrellas the handles are on the top, making a total height of 14,800 feet, and having their young only in spring, but some authorities say it was Lincoln, not Steve Brodie. Listen tomorrow for the answers to such questions as "Can a cow play the harmonica?" "How many hairs are there in an old fashioned goatskin trunk?" "Who invented the buttonhook?" and "Is a man with the hives in a preferred position to raise beets profitably at home?"

A LONG ISLAND town board has voted to permit the construction of 2,000 veterans' homes without cellars. They will be sold for about $7,000 each, which, it seems to us, must allow a couple of thousand dollars for the undug hole.

General Motors Corporation rates a cheer for taking the initiative in a drive against a "racket" through which new cars are secured at the regular price and immediately turned over to the black market to be sold for $1,000 extra. It points out that while auto companies are prevented from selling cars at excessive prices, the black market boys do it widely all over the U. S.

We know a fellow who gets so excited at the horse races that the other day he stood three feet in the air yelling for five minutes before he suddenly realized the chair he thought he was standing on was not there.

No Eggs Today

By TRUMAN TWILL

"The Egg and I," written by someone named Betty MacDonald, is on the shelf in the bookcase where new books are stored at the Twillery. But we are not going to read "The Egg and I" for a long time, maybe never.

The whole country, it appears, is laughing itself sick over this screamingly funny book, ho-ho and ha-ha, and someone had better stay sober. According to the advertising blurbs for the book and the inevitable movie, which is where the real dough is made these days, "The Egg and I" is a "laugh riot." The more discerning critics hint it is a shade funnier than "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Be that as it may the picture was so funny to someone that a full-page advertisement shows the author and the millionaire stars of the movie version laughing themselves into conniptions. The male star of these cinemantics is holding a handful of eggs and mugging like crazy with his eyebrows, which gives you an idea how funny the whole thing must have been to him.

Eggs—ho-ho. Eggs and I—ha-ha. Laugh yourself sick; and if you have any luck it's the first door to the left. See the movie, also read the book. Then you can be twice as sick. Honestly now, is it really that funny, or is this one of those things?

The newest big idea for making money faster, more power to the money-makers, is to build up a title, a phrase, a song title, or a gesture, until everybody knows about it. "The Egg and I"—you'll die laughing. "Hubba-hubba"—On your great big dream girl, with gestures. And so on.

The ad writers, song pluggers, radio gag men, and the hyenas who live off the scraps of Hollywood's goings-on—they all put their shoulders to the wheel and the latest promotion goes over with a bang. It's a technique, the old buildup with a modern flourish.

There isn't a thing in the world wrong with it. But some of us reserve the right to be contrary about it, which is our privilege in a free country. Under more sober circumstances "The Egg and I," which came to hand through the automatic process of new-book distribution that has made a big business of writing, would have been read and perhaps enjoyed.

But when the boys turn on the heat and thump the drums too hard, it's going to bring out the savage in some of us. We are going to refuse to laugh ourselves sick, to keep ourselves sick, or to get sick in any avoidable way. Our instinctive reaction from too much hoorah is no hoorah at all, which won't make any difference to the money-makers but is perhaps something they should know before jumping to the conclusion that the high-pressure buildup is fool-proof. Some of us fools are inclined to be contrary about it.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Pain in the Aged

Painful disorders are very common among elderly people and while it is not always possible to get rid of the disease, the doctor has a great many ways of banishing pain and making his patient comfortable.

He has a number of drugs at his command, including those known as opiates or narcotics. Drs. Emanuel M. Papper and Emery A. Rovenstine of New York City believe ther eare even better means of freeing patients from pain. They are of the opinion that opiates make the patient drowsy and depress the breathing, both of which are bad for the aged.

Instead, they suggest a number of different methods for use against pains of various origins. For instance, if pain is due to spasm of the blood vessels, they believe a preparation known as demerol is useful in relieving the difficulty. But it should only be given under the doctor's constant guidance.

This preparation relaxes the muscle in the walls of the blood vessels and has a pain-relieving action. This preparation also may be used prior to the administration of an anesthetic when an operation becomes necessary.

Passage of pain sensations over the nerves may be blocked by the doctor in various ways. For example, nerves can be cut, or they may be injected with various drugs. When a patient's age makes an operation for cutting nerves unwise, blocking of the nerves with suitable drugs may relieve pain for several months or more.

For example, if the patient is suffering from angina pectoris, a condition in which there is severe pain around the heart, injection of certain nerve passageways in the upper part of the spine with alcohol may be effective in bringing relief.

Likewise, injections may give relief for many months in cases of facial neuralgia when operation for cutting the nerves might be hazardous. These injections may be repeated when necessary.

Pain in the bones may also be relieved for the time being by injecting anesthetic solutions, especially when the pain is due to inflammation of the tissues around the joint and spasms of the muscles.

Pain due to blood vessel spasm also can be ended permanently by injections of local anesthetics into certain nerve pathways.

Blocking of nerves with alcohol injections can also be employed in cases of cancer in which operation for removal of the growth is not possible.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT
Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress
Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.
Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.
To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that 885 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 885 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, 885 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.
Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is 885 Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people 885 Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of 885 Tonic from your drug store today. 885 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

SOLONS REVIEW SCHOOL BILL

Senate Hostile to Changes Made by House in Ohio Measure.

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—House changes in the beleaguered Daniels-Cramer school bill came up for review by a hostile senate today.

Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland), co-sponsor with Sen. Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas), said he would demand senate rejection of amendments which cut to $83,-500,000 the annual state subsidy to public schools.

Daniels insisted the nearly $89,-000,000 approved by the senate was the minimum needed to give teachers adequate salary increases and keep schools operating satisfactorily.

Conferences Deemed Inevitable

Senate rejection of house changes would send the measure to a conference committee for a final compromise, unless the house should recede from its amendments, a step regarded as highly improbable.

The house inserted a provision that 75 per cent of the $23,500,000 annual increase for schools over last year's subsidy must go for teacher pay boosts, exclusive of tuition and transportation.

Daniels asserted the requirement would prevent use of increased funds for employment of sorely needed additional teachers and school employes.

The senate also took up a measure by Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) proposing congressional redistricting of the state in 1951 according to population based on the 1950 federal census.

Approve Tuberculosis Bills

The senate finance committee recommended passage of a house-approved proposal to allocate $3,-566,250 for 18 months starting July 1 to care for tuberculosis patients at the rate of $2.50 a day to be shared equally by counties and public hospitals for each patient.

The senate yesterday passed and sent to the house legislation to authorize creation of housing commissions at state-supported universities. It would permit Ohio State, Kent State, Miami, Ohio U., Bowling Green and Wilberforce to build dormitories and dining halls, paying for them out of rents.

RED MEN ELECT

Chippewa Tribe No. 30 of the Improved Order of Red Men held an election of officers at its regular meeting in Democratic hall last night. Chester Daly was re-elected prophet; Roy Russell, re-elected sachem; John Luff, senior sagamore; and Carl Daly, junior sagamore. W. E. Miller, Virgil Crabtree, and John Luff were elected to the board of trustees.

UN Opens Debate On Global Police Force

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, June 4—The world's other major powers lined up against Russia in the United Nations security council today as delegates prepare to open general debate on the long-delayed organization of a global police force.

The United States, scheduled to speak early in the meeting, was ready to support solidly the basic report of the military staff committee, from which the Soviet Union has dissented on more than a third of the basic principles.

Other members of the committee of admirals and generals—United States, Britain, France and China—were in general agreement.

BRITISH GIVE INDIANS FREEDOM OF CHOICE

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, June 4—Viceroy Lord Mountbatten told a news conference today either or both of the new states to be created in India under Britain's new plan could remain within the British commonwealth with dominion status or could walk out, either from the British or from each other.

The viceroy made it plain that the British plan, announced yesterday, intended that both Hindu India (Hindustan) and Moslem India (Pakistan) could be completely independent both of Britain and of each other, and that neither could control the other on the question of whether to remain in the commonwealth.

This question was raised by a number of correspondents on the Hindu side of the prospective new frontier in line with fears expressed editorially in some papers that Britain was splitting India in order to be able to retain her influence at least in the Moslem sections.

"There is absolutely nothing sinister in this plan," Mountbatten declared.

"I think it would be most improper for any foreign power to have bases in India," he added.

AUTO MAKERS CLAIM PROGRESS IN CONTROL

Admit Used Car Skyrocketing but Say Conditions Improving.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 4—The Automobile Manufacturers association, acknowledging skyrocketing prices in the used car market, said today "some notable results" had been won in efforts at control.

The association said in a report by George Romney, managing director, that the only effective solution would be increased production of cars until an "imbalance" of supply and demand was overcome.

Car production for the first four months of 1947 has averaged 282,387 monthly compared to a pre-war 314,709, Romney said.

Prices of used cars, surveys have shown, have soared far above their original dealers' prices as new vehicles. Individual, private buyers have secured new cars and quickly resold at high profits in numerous instances.

Citing examples from a national survey, Romney pointed out that the profits have run as high as $2,700 above the original delivery price from the licensed automobile dealer.

Garsson Makes Blanket Denial of All Charges

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Munitions maker Henry Garsson told a federal jury today he had "never entered into any agreement, arrangement or conspiracy at any time with anybody to do anything illegal or to defraud anybody."

Garsson made the statement under defense questioning at his trial with his brother, Murray Garsson, and former Kentucky Congressman Andrew J. May on war bribe conspiracy charges. The Garssons are accused of paying May $55,000 for favors while he was wartime chairman of the house military committee.

A court ruling blocked, at least temporarily, a defense attempt to show that the Garssons obtained $70,000,000 in war contracts without any help from May.

HUNGARIAN PLANES BANNED

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, June 4—The U. S. legation informed the Hungarian government today that planes of the Russian-Hungarian transport company Maszovlet no longer are being permitted to fly over the American zones of Austria and Germany because of lack of American civil aviation rights in Hungary.

from the Miami Shores community near Dayton, were cared for at the West Carrollton High school.

The Ohio river was expected to climb to 15 feet near Dam 8 in the East Liverpool area. Warren streets and cellars were flooded by the Mahoning river's slow recession yesterday.

In Lucas county commercial planters quit their machines—to try planting by hand. Only 15 per cent of the county's normal tomato crop was in the soil, and little corn or sugar beets has been planted.

Two weeks of normal weather generally was conceded as necessary to give Ohio's farmers a fighting chance to plant their crops. Earl Jones, extension agronomist at Ohio State university, advised farmers to count on planting corn up to June 25 for grain and to July 1 for silage.

At Cincinnati the Ohio river ran at a 30.5 feet crest, 21.5 feet under flood stage.

Rains Cause Damage To Bucyrus Phones

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, June 4—Continued heavy rain caused considerable damage to telephone cables in Bucyrus and rural areas in the vicinity disrupting service for approximately 500 subscribers, local telephone company officials reported. Service crews worked throughout Monday and Tuesday restoring the service.

Although Sandusky river went out of its banks Sunday and Monday when 2.75 inches of rain fell, the river was nearly back to normal today. Farm lands continued too wet for planting and crop loss is expected to amount to approximately 50 per cent due to late planting, Russell L. Miller, Crawford county extension agent predicted. Oats has been written off in Crawford county as a complete loss.

20-Year Record

Torrential rains, the heaviest in 20 years, sent the East creek on a rampage yesterday.

A bursting dam north of Rutland sent a nine-foot wall of water pouring across sections of the city last night. An estimated 500 families left their homes; some heeded advance warnings and others were taken out by boat and canoe. The city of 18,000 was left without drinking water or electric service today.

Report Further Damage

Unconfirmed reports reached Rutland that Proctor, a community west of there, also was badly hit. All communications were out.

The Red Cross set up a relief headquarters in a Rutland armory.

Another dam burst 18 miles up the Moose river from Lyons Falls, N. Y., wrecking a bridge spanning the main highway into the Adirondacks and flooding farmlands, but the village itself escaped major damage.

In Oneida, N. Y., Oneida creek receded after spreading over a six-block area and flooding 300 homes. A fourth of Elmira, N. Y., was flooded by Chemung river tributaries, which quickly receded. Rising Six-Mile creek caused the evacuation of 35 Ithaca families.

City Directory Work To Start

Crew Expected To Begin Listing Names in Marion Thursday.

Work is expected to start Thursday on gathering material for a new Marion city directory, according to R. O. Gray, representative of the R. L. Polk Co., directory publishers, who is setting up an office here. The work, to be done by a professional crew of three, will be accomplished with the aid of approximately 20 workers hired locally, Mr. Gray said.

Local workers will be assigned to areas with which they are familiar, and will visit each residence and places of business. Information will be placed on cards which will be collected here and sent to Cincinnati for compilation. At residences all persons living there over 18 years of age will be registered. The directory workers do not gain a true picture of the total population because younger children are not included in listings, Mr. Gray pointed out.

Offices for the director crew have been established at 120½ South Main street. The job of gathering information is expected to take about five weeks if favorable weather prevails. The new directory probably will be ready about five months from now. Directories are published in Detroit. Members of the crew assisting Mr. Gray are his wife, Mrs Barbara Gray, examiner, and R. E. Brooks, sales canvasser

A two-thirds majority in both houses would be required to override a veto, and senate Republicans concede they simply don't have the votes to do so.

Wide Range of Cuts

The measure provides for cuts ranging from 10.5 to 30 per cent off present taxes over a full year, but only 5.25 to 15 per cent for this calendar year. In addition, it would grant persons over 65 years of age an additional $500 personal exemption.

The schedule of cuts:

On net income, after exemptions and deductions, of $1,000 or less, 15 per cent in 1947, 30 per cent in 1948 and subsequent years.

From $1,000 to $1,400—graduated cuts of 10 to 15 per cent this year, 20 to 30 per cent thereafter.

From $1,400 to $136,720 — 10 thereafter.

From $136,720 to $302,400—7.5 per cent off this year, 15 per cent thereafter.

All taxable income above $302,-400—5.25 per cent off this year, 10.5 per cent thereafter.

The cutter Kimball was returning to her base when she picked up the freighter's distress signal. Twenty-five minutes later the cutter was at the scene.

The Emperor crew had gotten away in lifeboats, but one of these was overturned when the freighter plunged below the water.

Four of the men the Coast Guardsmen picked up were clinging to the overturned boat and 10 others were huddled in another boat half-filled with water. The seven others rescued were clinging to the rocks, 1½ miles north of Isle Royale.

TRUMAN ASKS SPEED ON WAR POWERS ACT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—President Truman asked congressional leaders of both parties today to speed action on his requests for extension of certain war powers due to expire June 30.

Mr. Truman called on them to hurry enactment of bills, now pending, to:

1. Extend the maritime commission's authority to charter oil tankers. Speaker Martin said the President asked this especially to avoid a possible oil shortage in eastern states this winter. The commission now operates more than 200 tankers.

2. Extend for one year the export-control act. This would apply to certain articles still in short supply. Extension legislation has been approved by the house armed services committee and also is before the senate judiciary committee.

3. Extend certain allocation and priority controls under the second war powers act. This applies to foods, fertilizers and other scarce commodities. Bills are before the judiciary committees of both houses. The house committee has scheduled hearings for Friday and the senate group next Wednesday.

Directors Elected By Foremen's Club

Annual election of members to the board of control of the Marion Foremen's Club was held Tuesday night in the Columbian hall. Members elected to complete the board of 15 members are: H. E. Ward, Fairfield Engineering Co; Roy Lovett, McMillen Feed Mills; Lester Alexander, Marion Metal Products; W. T. Bland, Commercial Steel Co.

Each board member serves a two-year term although elections are held annually. Last year seven were elected.

At the meeting Tuesday night a humorous talk, "What I Didn't Like About the Army," was given by Jim Kehrer of Bucyrus. Henry Koch of Lima Locomotive Works and director of National Association of Foremen was a guest.

"Flying White House" Set for Test Flight

By The Associated Press

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 4—A new "Flying White House" was about ready for test flights today.

The four-engined presidential transport plane, replacing the "Sacred Cow" which has traveled 430,000 miles during the administrations of President Truman and the late President Roosevelt, is a luxuriously fitted ship capable of cruising at 315 miles an hour, with a top of 358.

It was named "The Independence," for President Truman's residence city, Independence, Mo.

"The Independence" will be flown later this month, with delivery scheduled for about July 1. The cost was $650,000 to $700,000.

The Chief Executive's compartment, decorated in chocolate brown, dark blue and light grey, has a swivel and reclining chair, conference table, desk, a double seat facing instruments recording the plane's speed, altitude and compass course, telephone handset, radio, filing cabinet, wardrobe and a private dressing room and lounge.

See Price Drop Rest of Year

Businessmen Predict Rising Wages Coupled with Living Cost Dip.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Many businessmen and others believe that for the rest of this year most prices will tumble while wages push upward.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) said that was the general agreement among 583 persons who answered questionnaires in a business outlook survey made in behalf of the senate-house economic committee.

The group set June 23 for full-scale hearings on the survey and other data bearing on the state of this country's economic health.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), a committee member, told a reporter he is impressed by the "large majority" of the businessmen, union leaders, farmers, economists and editors who are "against any voluntary price arrangements under government sanction."

"Quickest Way To Monopoly"

"That would be the surest and quickest way to monopoly," the Wyoming senator declared.

He said he is encouraged, too, by the report from Dun and Bradstreet, which made the survey, that almost all of those questioned "advocated reduction in the level of the federal government debt."

On the other hand, Taft could find support for his stand for immediate tax reduction in the report's statement that "large majorities of all groups except farmers" favored personal income tax cuts.

"No Cross-Section"

Taft noted that most of the questionnaires went to businessmen, with only a few in other categories represented in the answers. He said the survey in no way represents a cross-section of opinion.

In fact the full senate-house committee differed with the Dun and Bradstreet summary of findings in one respect.

The committee concluded that businessmen were too pessimistic about the other fellow's prospects and decided that there is no "real support" for the fear that the nation may be traveling toward a depression.

Members noted that while a majority of those questioned predicted larger production and sales for their own firms, they didn't think the outlook was quite as good for others in their industry and thought prospects were definitely poorer for other types of industries.

GRAVE YARD PICKETS BEST NON-UNIONISTS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 4—Officials of Lake View cemetery said striking grave diggers picketed a grave today when three non-union employes went to work in the burial grounds.

C. B. Gleason, executive vice president of the Cemetery association, said the trio became unnerved and left after 12 members of the AFL-Arborists and Landscapers union "paraded around a grave" being dug.

Three other non-union workers dug a portion of the grave yesterday, but failed to show up today, presumably because union members "drove about the cemetery in cars and bothered them," he said.

None of the two groups was actually threatened, however, Gleason added.

Burials at Lake View have been held up since April 18 by a strike of AFL grave diggers and other employes, with these two exceptions:

A minister and his two brothers last week ignored picket lines and dug a grave for their 72-year-old mother. Yesterday, three newly-hired employes dug another grave.

C. B. Gleason, executive vice president of the Lake View cemetery association, said he hired 63 new workers after strikers' ignored his final offer. This he described as four cents hourly wage increases plus a guaranteed 47-week work year.

The union is asking for 10 cents an hour wage hikes and two cents additional an hour for each week the strike lasts.

Rain May Cause O.S.U. Radio Commencement

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4 — Ohio State university today planned a radio commencement Friday — if it rains.

This year's June graduating class of 1,400 seniors is too big to accommodate with their admiring relatives and friends anywhere except in the football stadium.

Festivities are scheduled to begin at 5 p. m., but if the season's most persistent visitor, the shower, reappears, the commencement will be confined to a radio broadcast of the commencement address by Bishop Michael J. Ready of the Columbus Catholic diocese, and conferring of degrees by Pres. Howard L. Bevis.

This wireless commencement will be broadcast over station WOSU, Columbus.

CITY PLAYGROUNDS TO OPEN JUNE 16

Will Close Sept. 6; Supervisors Appointed.

The city recreation committee named June 16 as the date for the opening of playgrounds in Marion, at a meeting in the administration building Monday night.

Playgrounds, which will open are Lincoln park, McKinley park, Garfield park, and the Silver street school grounds. Parks will close Sept. 6.

William Thomas, Harding football coach, will be the supervisor of the parks and will be at Garfield. Joseph Petrich, assistant Harding football coach, will be in charge of Lincoln park; William Wiley, baseball coach and assistant football coach at Harding, will be in charge at McKinley park; and Russell Dunlap, Harding instructor, will be in charge at Silver street.

Previously the commission had planned to use the Glen Orr school grounds as a playground, but repairs are being made there this summer. Should work on the Silver street school start during the summer the playground would have to be moved to another school, commission members said.

Mr. Thomas has made no announcement yet as to plans for the summer.

LEGISLATORS GROOM BONUS FOR PASSAGE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—Senate-house conferees hastened today to groom the $300,000,000 veterans bonus program for final legislative approval so it could parade before voters at the fall election.

Only agreement on whether officers above the ranks of captain should share in payments remained before the proposal could be submitted to the general assembly for final passage. The house insisted on no limit by rank, but the senate wanted to favor only those below major.

Conferees late yesterday struck from the resolution a house plan for raising $7,500,000 a year to pay bonuses by an extra cent-a-pack on cigarets.

They also agreed that time spent in military prisons could not be counted in figuring bonuses, that sea duty would be reckoned as foreign service, and that only those discharged under honorable conditions would be eligible.

Bonuses would be paid at the rate of $15 for each month of foreign duty and $10 monthly for domestic service between Dec. 7, 1941, and Sept. 2, 1945, to a maximum of $400.

Heirs of service personnel who died in the line of duty would receive $400.

Battered Cubs Return After Dropping Twin Bill To Newark 13-9, 8-5

Manager Burbrink Takes Fling At Pitching As Locals Tumble

Special to The Star

NEWARK, June 4—Newark continued to wax redhot in the Ohio State league pennant chase here tonight by winning a double-header from Marion 13 to 9 and 8 to 5.

The Browns have won 10 of their last 12 games.

Newark's double victory was marred, however, when Manager Nelson Burbrink, pitching for the Cubs, hit Johnny O'Dani on the head in the fifth inning of the nightcap.

Newarkite Injured

O'Dani, second string backstop, was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

The Cubs started off fast in both tilts. They scored three times in the opening inning of the first game and twice in the first frame of the nightcap.

Solid hitting by Newark's Johnny Batt and Charley Hopkins put Marion out of the running. Batt knocked home four runs in the first game on three hits, one of them a triple, in the opener and hammered two markers across the plate in the second game.

Hopkins spanked out a home run and single in the curtain raiser and batted in two markers. In the second encounter, he sent home four runs on a single, triple and double.

Smith Paces Marion

Jack Smith paced Marion's 17-hit attack in the first game with four blows, two of them doubles. Burbrink and Nelson each had three safeties.

Newark scored enough runs in the first two innings of the nightcap to win. Burbrink came in to replace Jim Fowler and hurled with considerable success the remainder of the game.

Bill Woolard, acting manager for the Browns, pitched the full nightcap. Manager Eddie Dancisak is under a three-day suspension by Frank Colley, league president.

Cubs Back For Week at Home

The Marion Cubs will return to Marion tonight to play the Lima Terriers after ending a disastrous road trip last night at Newark.

The road jinx continued to plague the Cubs as they fell to the Browns in a twin bill 13 to 9 and 8 to 5. The double loss dropped Marion to sixth place and gave the Browns a tighter grip on second place.

The game at Lincoln park tonight was not on the original league schedule and was listed as an open date, but after the first Lima series was rained out and several other attempts to play the series with the Terriers have also succumbed to Jupiter Pluvius, the two games were rebilled for tonight and June 9, another open date.

The Cubs will be on the home lot for six nights and will have a chance to improve their standings. After the game tonight the Dayton Indians will follow for single games Thursday and Friday and then the Springfield Giants, currently in third place, will be here Saturday night for a single and a doubleheader Sunday. Lima will return for a single game Monday night.

Richmond Sweeps Twin Bill; Other OSL Teams Split

By The Associated Press

Newark's recently startling Browns and Richmond's Roses swept twin bills as all Ohio State league teams met in doubleheaders last night.

The Brownies bumped Marion's Cubs, 13 to 9 and 8 to 5, boosting their spurt to 10 victories in the last 12 games.

Zanesville's league - leading Dodgers split with Lima's Terriers, winning the first tilt, 11 to 0, and losing 6 to 5 in the seven-inning nightcap at Zanesville.

But for a streak of bad luck in the tenth inning of their first game with Muncie, Dayton's Indians might have swept their pair with the Packers. Gene Starr, pitching five-hit ball, lost 2 to 1 when the Tribe's only error set up Muncie's victory. Dayton then won the second contest, 9 to 7, on an eight-run fifth inning.

Springfield was defeated in the nightcap at Richmond, 6 to 4, after losing the abbreviated opener, 7 to 2.

Irked Cub Skinner Does All Right As Relief Pitcher

Because Cub relief hurling has not suited him Nelson Burbrink went into a relief role last night, pitching five and one-third inning of the second game

During his tenure on the mound he allowed only three hits, fanned two men, gave up a walk, and hit one man. Although he has never been a moundsman before, the fiery manager hinted this morning that he may start as a pitcher in one of next Sunday's games.

Marion fans would like to see this as many of them claim his snap throw from the catcher's box propels the ball faster than the average pitcher's all-out efforts.

Tonight Bill Rosin will handle the mound chores against Lima

• • •

A new name in the Marion lineup is that of Walter Harloup of Cicero, Ill. He is here on option from Elizabethton, Tenn., a class D club in the Appalachian league.

Tonight Bruce Adams who has been understudying Burbrink all season may get his chance. He will probably be used in right field in place of Wiebel.

Smitty's Girls To Play Practice Tilt Tonight

Preliminary to the Smitty's All-Star-Ashland Merchant game at Crystal Lake park tonight, Smitty's girl's team will play a practice game against an all-colored girl's team from this city.

The girl's game is scheduled to start at 7 and the men's game will follow.

NEW FENCE SNAGS CLEVELAND CREW

Skid 6-5 as Nats Dump 2 Over Short Wall.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 4 — Their new stadium fence presented an obstacle to the Cleveland Indians' pennant chances today as the Tribesmen reeled under the impact of three straight losses.

Blasted by two over-the-fence smashes, the Indians suffered another "hard-luck" one-run loss last night as the Washington Senators edged Cleveland 6-5 in the opener of a three-game series.

Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau paced the Indians' offensive by driving home four tallies and scoring the fifth on two singles and a double in four trips to the plate.

Boudreau delivered a two-run single in the third to give the Tribe a 3-2 margin after Ken Keltner and George Metkovich rapped one-basers, but in the fifth Buddy Lewis and Stan Spence cleared the outfield barrier for three runs and a 5-3 lead

Boudreau rapped another single in the seventh to knot the count 5-5 then in the ninth the Nats' Gerry Priddy blasted another homer into the stands to best southpaw relief pitcher Les Willis.

Fireballer Bob Feller, who has failed to finish his last four starts, will try for his sixth victory of the season tonight against right-hander Rae Scarborough under the stadium lights.

BROWN PARK RESUMED

NEWARK, O., June 4 — Construction plans at Arnold Field, home of the Newark Browns of the Ohio State league, were resumed today with approval from the federal housing expediter's office at Cleveland. Work was ordered stopped at the new baseball park last week because of alleged federal building code violations.

GIDEON SMITH, GREAT NEGRO football star for Michigan State college in the 1912-14 period thinks modern gridders are sloppy in their blocking and tackling. "We used to block a man so that he stayed down," he says "Now the boys just brush or screen the opposing tacklers. And the tackling now is just plain terrible. There's too much shoving out of bounds and not enough good hard tackling." He's shown above with Trainer Jack Heppinstall comparing headgear worn then and now.

Schlairet and Moose Win Commercial Softball Tilts

Commercial softball league winners yesterday afternoon were Moose lodge and Schlairet.

The Moose club, in beating American Legion 6 to 5, picked up six runs in the first two innings. They protected their lead although the Legion had a big four-run third, and picked up one in the fourth.

Schlairet took McAllister's measure 8 to 4. Young and Somerlot led hitting with three each, one of Young's being good for four bases. Chapman homered for McAllister.

Schlairet pitcher Biggerstaff set 10 men down over the route.

Standard Oil had been scheduled with Co M and DeMolay against Tong Implement yesterday but wet grounds kept the teams from playing.

The city softball commission will meet at the Y at 7:30 tonight to discuss problems which have come up since the season started.

MILLER ONLY STAR IN CINCY HEAVENS

Crashes 12th Home Run as Reds Fall 4-1.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 — Eddie Miller's star still shines even though the Redlegs of Cincinnati have returned to their losing ways.

The Cincinnati shortstop was the only redeeming Redleg factor last night as the Philadelphia Phillies triumphed 4-1. Smooth-fielding Eddie clubbed his 12th homer to have Cincinnati from a shutout and that blow, along with a double, increased his batting average to an even .300.

The victory gave Schoolboy Rowe his seventh win of the season, three of which have been over the Rhinelanders.

The Phillies, breaking a four-game losing streak, collected nine hits from the offerings of Eddie Erautt, Everett Lively and Clyde Shoun Outfielder Harry Walker was the big gun in pushing the Reds out of sixth place. He scored the first run in the sixth, after doubling, and clouted a three-run triple in the next round.

Lanky Ewell Blackwell, the flower of the Cincinnati pitching staff, faces Kenny Heintzelman today.

Home Run Bats Secret of Why Mel Ott's Giants Top Nationals

By The Associated Press

Although the New York Giants are the surprise team of the major leagues, there is no secrecy why Mel Ott's gang is at the top of the National league today.

The answer lies in their big, booming home run bats. It has been the four-base blow, more than anything else, that has been directly responsible for a large majority of their victories.

In 39 games of which they've won 23, the slugging men of Ott, led by Johnny Mize, the majors' leading homer hitter, have walloped 48 four baggers.

Mize's 14 home runs to date put him two days ahead of Babe Ruth's record breaking pace of 60 home runs in 1927.

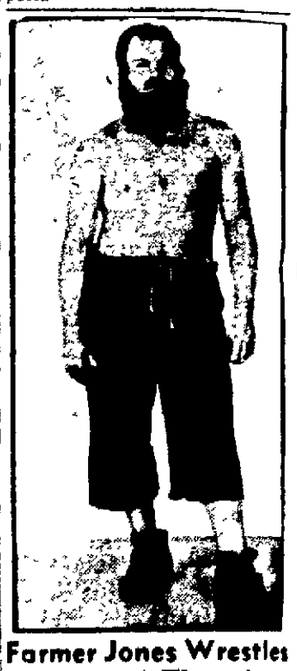
The Giants hit three circuit smashes at the Polo grounds last night to whip the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and take over sole possession of first place.

The Dodgers swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh at Ebbets field outslugging the Pirates 11-6 and 8-7 to move into third place past the Boston Braves who were shut out by the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

Rex Barney received credit for both Dodger victories The fireball righthander started the opener and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning with the Brooks ahead 10-4 He relieved in the sixth inning of the nightcap after the Bucs had overcome a 6-0 Dodger lead and were trailing 8-7 with men in scoring position

Philadelphia advanced from seventh to sixth place past Cincinnati by downing the Reds 4-1 at Philadelphia.

The New York Yankees, led by Joe Dimaggio, blanked the Detroit Tigers 3-0 to narrow the Bengals' first place lead in the American league to two games Washington nosed out the Cleveland Indians 6-5 in Cleveland The last place St Louis Browns came from behind to nip the Boston Red Sox 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 3-0 at Comiskey park.



Farmer Jones Wrestles Red Devil Thursday

Farmer Jones and his pet pig will return to the Marion Armory Thursday after an absence of over a year, to try and tame the wild tactics of the Red Devil. They will meet in the two hour main event The Farmer is one of the most colorful grapplers in the game Starting by taking on Carnival wrestlers in his home state of Arkansas, he developed into one of the game's biggest drawing cards by his unique style of wrestling whereby he uses his feet as well as his hands to subdue some of the roughest.

Instead of a dog as a companion the Farmer always has a pet pig that he trains as well as a dog. Sammy Kohen, better known as the Red Devil has yet to lose a match in Marion

The one hour semi-final brings back another old name to Marion fans, Monty LaDue, the French - Canadian wood-chopper who cut quite a path in Marion mat history. The ten minute prelim at 8:30 is between Don Grove and Herb Williams

Prices for this outstanding event will remain the same—Gen 75c. Ringside $1.00 and Kids 50c. Call Markert & Lewis early for your seats.—Adv

Legion Team To Be In Uniform At Tonight's Tilt with Lima

At first glance tonight it's going to look like Marion is attempting to outnumber the Lima baseball team, but that won't be the case.

The 24 extra players at the game tonight dressed in Marion baseball uniforms will be members of the American Legion Junior baseball team.

Wearing their distinctive white, trimmed with red uniforms, the American Legion Junior baseball team is planning to attend en masse.

The boys will be at the park to let the local fans get a look at them before they play there first game next Wednesday.

Also with the team will be about a dozen members of the Byrd-McGinnis post of American Legion who will be selling tickets to the first game. W. E. Orcutt, a member of the Legion committee for the baseball team, will make an announcement over the public address system telling the aim of the baseball program.

After tonight, members of the American Legion will appear at other Cub home games between now and next Wednesday to promote the ticket sale.

The announced purpose of the drive is to sell 3,000 tickets at $1 each to the games that night. Marion Legion will play the Lima Legion and the Cubs will play the Lima Terriers. Another 1,000 tickets will be on sale at the box office.

All proceeds will go for team expenses and it is hoped that enough money can be raised to finance the team this year and next.

OHIO MAN CHARGED WITH MURDERING SON

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., June 4—A father faced a first-degree murder charge here today in the fatal shooting of his son during a family quarrel.

Butler County Deputy Sheriff Jack Greenfield filed the charge against William Bush, whom he accused of firing a bullet into the head of his 29-year-old son, Raymond.

The shooting occurred yesterday at the son's home in neighboring West Middletown and Greenfield said he had learned the pair quarreled earlier in the day. The cause of the quarrel was not known immediately.

Greenfield said the victim's wife, Mrs. Minnie Bush, 28, gave this account of the shooting:

"The father knocked at the door of his son's home and greeted him with 'I told you I'd get you.'" Two fatal shots were fired, one striking the younger Bush in the face and killing him instantly. The father ran to his automobile which was parked in front of the house and drove away.

Greenfield said the elder Bush surrendered two hours later, after talking with another son, William Jr., but made no immediate statement concerning the shooting.

Programs on the Air

Hollywood's radio stars have landed and secured a beachhead in New York's Radio City. Among the invading dilluminaries are Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Phil Harris, Alice Faye, Dennis Day, Jean Hersholt, and Lucille Ball who's been scheduled for five network guest shots . . . Though the original reason for Phil Baker's absence from his quiz show has been illness, it's no secret along Radio Row that both the sponsor and the quipping quizzer have, as the Broadway columnist put it, phfft. Both desire a change . . . As a result of the rumor that Desi Arnaz is leaving the Bob Hope show, bandleaders have been swamping the comedian with bids to inherit the baton-swing role . . . A major movie studio is negotiating with John Brown, who plays "Digger O'Dell, the friendly undertaker on NBC's "Life of Riley," to portray his radio role in a forthcoming screen comedy . . . Earlier rumors of a rift between the "Hit Parade" and maestro Mark Warnow have been revived. Talk is that Sintra's ideas about the music don't jibe with Warnow's.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"FAITH!" I exclaimed, and then in my excitement, made what any experienced mother would recognize as a "strategic error."

"How long have you been standing there?" I demanded, and regretted the question immediately.

Faith's usually clear eyes were suddenly opaque.

"No so long," she replied, and I knew that unless I wished to encourage a slippery evasion, if not a falsehood, I had better abandon that line of inquiry.

"It doesn't matter," I said, hurriedly sending my mind back over my conversation with Katharine, and realizing that after our first sentence, when we had been facing Faith's bedroom door, we had mentioned neither Mary's name nor Noel's.

"But how early you are, darling!" I exclaimed, hoping to divert her thoughts. "You won't have to hurry through your shower or your dressing, and you will be able to show Aunt Katharine how grown-up you are. She undressed you last night, as a special privilege, but I know you'll want to show her this morning how nicely you can do everything. Would you like her to come into your bathroom while you shower and dress?"

"I'd love it!" Faith exclaimed enthusiastically, then immediately switched back to her original line of thought.

Worried About Mary

"The reason I'm early," she said slowly, "is because I'm so worried about Cousin Mary. I went to sleep thinking about her, and I guess I must have been dreaming about her, so I woke up early. And then I heard you talking about somebody you called 'she' who wouldn't try anything while somebody you called 'him' was around, and I was wondering if you meant Cousin Mary, and I got all hot and bothered about it."

I sat down in a chair and looked at my offspring with what Dicky calls my "cowing the jungle animals" gaze.

"Faith," I said quietly, "come over here."

She obeyed me, but her progress across the room was as slow at she dared make it.

"What is it, Mummy?" she murmured sweetly when she stood in front of me.

"You know very well what it is," I told her. "No, don't turn your eyes away. Look at me squarely—or are you ashamed of anything?"

"I suppose I ought to be ashamed of snooping," she said, her face and eyes guileless but totally devoid of any sign of contrition. "But I wasn't really snooping. I had to come in here, to see if you were here, didn't I, and I couldn't help hearing what you were saying, now could I?"

I wondered if Katharine were having as much trouble with her risibles as I was with mine. But I kept my face like that of a "hanging judge" as I tried to deal with my young daughter's specious reasoning.

"I am not going to answer those questions, Faith," I told her. "I haven't time. You must decide for yourself whether or not you were listening to grown-ups talking when you shouldn't. You know very well what I mean."

She nodded gravely.

"Yes, I know," she agreed, "and I'll decide after awhile. But, now, won't you tell me, please, who 'she' is, and what she isn't going to do?"

"I'm sorry," I said, "but I can't tell you anything about it. That is grown-up conversation, and you were not supposed to know anything about it."

Intent Look

She looked at me steadily for an instant, the intent look of a child who is measuring a parent's determination. Then she said: "Okay!" with an air of nonchalance which quickly changed to one of concern.

"But mayn't I ask anything about Cousin Mary?" she asked. "Honest, I'm so worried about her I don't know what to do! Is she terribly sick? Can she talk, or is she unconscious?"

There was genuine fear in her voice now, and I hastened to allay it.

"No, no, she's better this morning," I told her. "She's had her breakfast and she's sitting up, talking to Cousin Noel."

"Oh! Oh!" Faith exclaimed. "I'll bet Cousin Mary's the 'she' and Cousin Noel's the 'him!'"

I think even the most indulgent of mothers would have understood the primitive—but fleeting—impulse I had to slap her. But when I saw her shrink from me, and knew that she had sensed my reaction, I spoke hurriedly.

"We won't talk about that," I said. "But how would you like to see Cousin Mary for a minute if she feels well enough to see you?"
